To Whom It May Concern,

Please consider the privilege of every American consumer to make an informed decision when buying food by properly labeling every item. Practices like "irradiation", "genetic modifications" and the use of products such as "rBGH" should be apparent to the average consumer in the supermarket. The facts about food should be accurately labeled so each of us can make the best personal choices. This is simply a request for the truth.

Please be willing to provide this information to the public on a regular basis.

Thank you for your consideration.

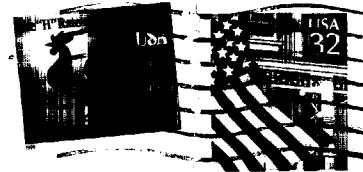

Sincerely,
Susan Frischman
